EUGENE, Ore., May 20
(UPI)—Hit-and-run saboteurs dynamited a bank, church, newspaper, the University of Oregon admissions office and a shop near State Police headquarters Monday night and early today. The explosions shattered windows and caused moderate damage.

Another dynamite blast was reported early today at Coos County Courthouse in Coquille, about 125 miles southwest. That blast broke windows over a wide area and damaged several rooms.

Eugene Police Capt. William Smith and other officials refused to speculate on the reason for the dynamitings.

"It appears to have been someone in a hurry," said Smith. He said some of the charges apparently were thrown from a car, while others were placed. All consisted of four to six sticks of dynamite.

The only clues were a piece of fuse from a similar explosion last week which caused $3000 damage to Central Presbyterian Church and an eyewitness report of a Volkswagen bus driving away from one explosion this morning.
